

Jessie J Fleming

September 26, 1982 - October 23, 2024

Jessie Jamar Fleming, affectionately known as “Jamal” and to Southbridge he was “Carter” was born September 26, 1982, in Wilmington, Delaware to Carolyn Fleming and Edward Young. Jessie transitioned to his heavenly home on October 23, 2024 at Chris ana Hospital.

Jessie aka “Carter”, received his education in Christiana School District and graduated from Bertha E. Roach Chris an Academy. Jessie was a member at Carter Temples Church. Jessie was self – employed with several jobs, he started his own entrepreneurship calling his company “TheCarterMovingCompany”. He did multiple move out jobs for people around the city. He loved working with the kids at “Little Arrows Christian Academy” as the driver. Let’s not forget that Jessie was the Chef, working in various restaurant as a “Lead Cook”. When it was time to cook that grill on or make those greens, he was the best. Everybody wanted Jessie’s cooking. Jamal was a “people’s person!” He loved get-togethers, entertaining, and socializing with friends and family. Jessie was the helping hand that everybody needed or called for. Whatever the job was, you could bet on Jessie to be there with a price. In his words, “Never Too Big or Too Small”, always called his mother and told her “Mom I got it”.

Jessie was preceded in death by his grandfather, Leroy Brown and Edward Young Sr. Grandmother: Ruby Lee Young Uncles: Edward Fleming (Pie) and

“ I met Jesse when I came here virtually ten years ago. He was a friendly and kind person; one who exuded a spirit of love and compassion to all people. He had NO problem with my accent. He planted vegetable gardens just like myself. That strengthened our friendships. He's greatly missed. May his gentle soul rest peacefully until Jesus returns. He was laid to rest one month ago. Shalom!☐✨
